

The Gulf of California is the first major marginal sea to register a +3 °C-class spring SST anomaly in the satellite era.

Subsurface warming eliminates depth refugia · Reef community has already restructured · Cohort-recruitment losses commit fishery declines through 2031.